

Communion to Shut-ins

On the Sundays when communion is distributed among the worshipers at church, a team of elders and the minister visit shut-in members of the congregation who would also like to participate in the sacrament of communion. This connection has been well received by those who are otherwise unable to participate in this way.