

Presbyterian Women

Presbyterian Women of First Presbyterian Church join with the community group of Church Women United for meetings throughout the year. The collective group learns about various other mission projects in the area and abroad as well as share ideas from each other's church organizations.

Offerings are shared with international projects as well as local concerns. The Shelby County Health Clinic has been a focus of giving in recent years for the Presbyterian Women's organization.

They also sponsor a "Cookie Walk" prior to Christmas where members donate home baked goods to sell to raise funds for various missions of the group.
